NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-EIGHT

BENNETT BELLE

BENNETT COLLEGE
GREENSBORO, N. C.

FOREWORD

The theme of the 1968 BENNETT BELLE is "The Power That Makes Men Free." As Dr. Miller stated in his address, "the influence of the liberal education is measured by what the individual takes away, and the impact which he or she is thus prepared to make upon the society." Because we have been subjected to the kind of education which reflects a creative idealism, the impact which we propose to make on society will be purposeful.

The Power That Makes Men Free is creativity, a creativity that does not destroy tradition, nor allow that tradition to enslave us. Ours is a creativity that employs tradition as one of the steps to new ideologies, new philosophies, and new protests.

We are called upon to react and interact with an everchanging environment; new, exciting, disturbing, seldom soothing, seldom traditional; winnowing and sifting, selecting and rejecting. Constructing protest is essential for growth. The interchange between mind and mind is the life blood of the academic community. We grow as we keep alive the traditional right of the individual to dissent and to question. But let us not be carried away with the philosophy of dissent as an end in itself.

Our spirits must be free to shed uncreative tradition. Let us not fear conflict and protest; but when it comes, let it be creative. Let us create collectively, faculty, and students, a tradition of orderly and disciplined change. Through discipline of self, let us create a new society. Let this be our mission: that these times shall be times in which there is a new realization of self, a greater sense of commitment to the proposition that the health of the Society depends on the creative involvement of the individual.

It doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that we shall be free in so far as we do not allow ourselves to be enslaved by uncreative tradition; as we engage in constructive protest and dissent; as we pursue a tradition of orderly and disciplined change; as we develop the individual human spirit within the unity of an inclusive society.

*... a creativity that does not destroy tradition,
nor allow that tradition to enslave us.*

Our spirits must be free to shed uncreative tradition.

Dedication

"The Teacher is like the candle which lights others in consuming itself." (Ruffini)

The 1968 Bennett Belle is dedicated to Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert. It is through her firm belief in quality education, her infinite endurance of spirit, and her dedication to the teaching profession that Miss Gilbert has come to exemplify the epitome of what one can do if one tries. By her very actions she has set the mood for the following quotation:

"Education does not mean teaching people what they do not know . . . It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by precept and by praise, but above all—by example."

President's Statement

Bennett College has a significant opportunity and a challenge which it must accept to provide a new dimension of academic leadership for the years ahead. In a time when our personal systems of value and our national objectives are being questioned by so many, we cannot afford the luxury of a business-as-usual approach to the future. Consequently, we must achieve new relevance and meaning in the composite of our collegiate experience. The shape of the future will be determined by those who are academically, psychologically, and philosophically prepared to find solutions to the problems of a society in ferment. This is true with institutions as with people. Those who constitute our many publics must be advised constantly of our obsession with the pursuit of academic excellence, our high resolve to render significant community service, and our intention to be involved in making the decisions by which the future is shaped. In a unique way the Yearbook says all of this. It is at once a reflection of things as they are, and a projection of things to come. The members of the committee and others who have contributed are due much recognition for telling the Bennett Story so effectively.

After many frustrating hours, we have this, our completed Bennett Belle for 1968. The experiences encountered were those we shall remember. Through it all, we have fought our battle and have come out on top.

Special thanks and acknowledgements go to those who ably assisted us: Miss Angelene Johnson, Mr. Ben Poole, and Mr. Douglas McAdoo, our advisor.
